The Annual Report of the UC Santa Cruz Foundation, 2001–02
What an extraordinary year this has been.

In these times of global, political, and economic challenges, UC Santa Cruz works even harder to deliver essential knowledge for building a better world. As highlighted in this report, our core assets—faculty, staff, students, alumni, and friends—continue to distinguish the university as one of the nation’s finest. Their achievements underscore UC Santa Cruz’s dedication to stellar research, innovative instruction, and exemplary community service.

During this decade, we will experience significant growth as the campus educates California’s next generation of leaders. To realize our ambitious goals, UC Santa Cruz must augment state funds, which cover only about 40 percent of our annual operating costs. For this reason, gifts at all levels—from every one of our supporters—will be crucial as we grow and build our excellence. Our top funding priorities include endowed professorships and chairs, program support, graduate fellowships, undergraduate scholarships, world-class information resources, and outstanding learning facilities.

Your generous contributions of time and money are keys to our success, and I thank you on behalf of the entire UC Santa Cruz family. Whether you decide to assist students, contribute to a friends group, or endow outstanding faculty, you will be an important part of our tradition of innovation.

I invite you to explore and invest in greater opportunities for supporting our achievements, and I look forward to celebrating our future success with you.

M.R.C. Greenwood
Chancellor
UC Santa Cruz
This publication honors the individuals and organizations that have contributed to the university’s excellence and promise. In helping the campus foster new knowledge and create social change, they fuel UCSC’s dynamic academic achievements.

Providing UC Santa Cruz with resources essential for fulfilling its mission is a primary way to ensure the future for generations to come. Despite uncertain economic times, campus supporters continue to express their belief in the university’s power to make a difference. I’m pleased to report that private contributions to the campus totaled $13.1 million in 2001–02, reflecting our community’s enduring commitment to UC Santa Cruz.

This publication honors the individuals and organizations that have contributed to the university’s excellence and promise. In helping the campus foster new knowledge and create social change, they fuel UCSC’s dynamic academic achievements.

On a consistent basis, I am impressed by the strong support shown for this university. The trustees of the UC Santa Cruz Foundation lead the way, tirelessly promoting the accomplishments and potential of the campus. Working in concert with members of the talented UCSC community, trustees contribute valuable time and effort on behalf of this great institution. I commend them for their continued service.

As the Foundation owes much of its success to the university’s entire community of supporters, I thank you all for your generosity and dedication to this outstanding campus. Together we will guarantee UC Santa Cruz’s bright future.

President, UC Santa Cruz Foundation
July 2001–June 2003

Harnessing the strengths of science, technology, engineering, policy, and social and behavioral science, STEPS will initially focus on three global environmental processes affected by human activities: climate change, genetic restructuring of ecosystems, and transformation of the Earth’s major water systems.

Major Gift and Grant Bolster Environmental Research
UC Santa Cruz’s tradition of pioneering environmental research received a boost from Foundation trustee and biotech entrepreneur Gordon Ringold (Crown ’72). Ringold and his wife, Tanya Zarucki, contributed $500,000—the largest outright gift to the university from an alumnus—to launch the new STEPS Institute for Innovation in Environmental Research. Harnessing the strengths of science, technology, engineering, policy, and social and behavioral science, STEPS will initially focus on three global environmental processes affected by human activities: climate change, genetic restructuring of ecosystems, and transformation of the Earth’s major water systems.

Environmental research also drew support from the W. M. Keck Foundation of Los Angeles, which awarded the campus $1 million to purchase equipment for trace metal research, an area in which UCSC has excelled for many years.

Endowment Allows Jewish Studies to Thrive
Helen and Sanford Diller, through the Jewish Community Federation’s Endowment Fund, made contributions totaling $1.5 million to establish the Helen and Sanford Diller Endowment in Jewish Studies. Under the direction of Professor Murray Baumgarten, coholder of the Neufeld Levin Holocaust Endowed Chair, Jewish studies has bloomed, fostering interdisciplinary courses, innovative research, and engaging lectures and events.

Many Gifts Facilitate Student Success
Campus supporters came out in full force to financially help students achieve their academic goals. As part of a commitment totaling $300,000, Ramesh Bhojwani established an endowed graduate fellowship.
to assist needy students who are the first in their family to attend graduate school. Foundation trustee C. Diane Christensen generously funded graduate fellowships in environmental studies. Anne and Jim Bay augmented their fellowship endowment, benefiting graduate students studying Victorian literature. Individual donors contributed $93,493 to the Alumni Association Scholarship Fund, which provided need-based scholarships to 25 undergraduate students this year. Inspired by his daughter, a recent UCSC graduate, Stephen Palais established a scholarship endowment for business management economics students. In memory of their brother Stephen Palais, Nancy Levin and Richard and Donald Palais created an endowed fellowship to facilitate student-faculty collaborations in mathematics and biology.

Athletics Gifts Soar
Contributors such as Foundation trustee Richard "Ted" Speiker, parents, alumni, coaches, student athletes, and businesses contributed $134,719 to intercollegiate athletics. Gifts were ultimately doubled under Chancellor M.R.C. Greenwood's matching program incentive. The chancellor's program to augment contributions to Slug sports will continue during the next four years.

Solid Support for Campus Enhancements
The estate of longtime supporter Dorothy Eming provided over $130,000 to launch the McHenry Library Expansion Campaign. Generous contributions from Pickle Jones, and Edward Penhoet significantly expanded Special Collections, underscoring the need for additional library space and a digitization and preservation laboratory.

Initiatives for new campus facilities also received wide support. The University Center, a central gathering place for the campus community and general public, exceeded its fundraising goal of $400,000 through recent gifts from Nell Woodward, and Edward Penhoet.

The Ewing Marion Kauffman Foundation awarded nearly $70,000 to the UC College Prep Initiative (UCCP) to fund a Virtual High School Summer Institute for educators and an evaluation of online tutoring programs.

The William and Flora Hewlett Foundation awarded nearly $1.1 million, reflecting their belief in and commitment to the campus. Alumni contributed nearly $1.4 million—the largest amount ever donated in a single year. The Alumni Association councilors and Donald Palais provided a gift for the Career Center's program to provide students with internship opportunities in the nonprofit sector.

Foundations Expand Campus Programs
- The David and Lucile Packard Foundation provided vital support to two campus arts programs that benefit the larger community. ArtsBridge, a program that places UCSC arts students in local schools to enrich arts education for K–12 youth, received a $52,000 grant. Shakespeare Santa Cruz, the campus's nationally recognized professional theater company, also received a $90,000 grant for general operating support and implementation of strategic goals. Besides these grants, the foundation also awarded $250,000 for the preconstruction phase of the university's Early Education and Care Center.

- The William and Flora Hewlett Foundation awarded nearly $70,000 to the UC College Prep Initiative (UCCP) to fund a Virtual High School Summer Institute for educators and an evaluation of online tutoring programs.

- The Ewing Marion Kauffman Foundation continued its support of the Career Center's program to provide students with internship opportunities in the nonprofit sector.

More Good News
- Harold Gordon and Annette Gordon enhanced education for stellar music students through their donation of a rare violin.

- Michael Graydon (Cowell '70) established the Angelina, Sally, and Melanie Graydon Reference Endowment, benefiting the University Library.

- Paul Newman, Joanne Woodward, and Nell Newman, through Newman's Own Foundation and Newman's Own Organics, continued their generous support of the Santa Cruz Predatory Bird Research Group and the Center for Agroecology & Sustainable Food Systems' apprenticeship program.

- George Ow and Gail Michaels-Ow cosponsored a production of Shakespeare Santa Cruz's Summer Festival with Barry Swenson Builder.

- The Educational Opportunity Programs received a gift from Joseph Zils (Stevenson '76).

This publication honors the many UCSC contributors who have invested in the achievements and future of this outstanding university. Many of their gifts to one or more programs of special interest to them, such as a college, academic department, scholarship fund, or specific area of research.

We deeply appreciate the many individuals and organizations that support UC Santa Cruz, and are pleased to acknowledge their generous contributions.

University Benefactors are individuals, foundations, businesses, and other organizations that have made cumulative contributions of $50,000 or more over the history of the campus. Through the 21st Century Club, we acknowledge those who have made deferred gifts to UCSC or informed the university that they are remembering the campus in their wills.

Contributors have made gifts or pledges totaling $100 or more to UC Santa Cruz between July 1, 2001, and June 30, 2002. Alumni Benefactors (those who attended UCSC for three or more quarters) are listed by class year and giving club. We list alumni contributors with spouses or partners, UCSC alumni listed first. If both are alumni, their listing is followed by an *.

Contributors are indicated by †, and Trustees are indicated by ‡.

Financial data in this report was compiled prior to the final 2001–02 fiscal-year audit. Copies of the Foundation’s audited financial statement are available upon request.
